

I am against further deregulation because it can only lead to fewer independent sources of news and programming. Furthermore the public now gets a 'check and balance' between the different media, which will disappear under the same ownership.

The results of deregulating radio has led to fewer program choices and poorer news that i have noticed in my 12 years of listening while commuting by car. This is not just my opinion - the CEO of Clear Chanel, owner of hundreds of stations, said they are not in the business of providing information and news but to sell products....

All of this is bad for competition, the First Amendment and democracy.
